

Healing Stream

Low Lewis

Healing Stream

Are you hiding, buried away inside?
Frightened, thinking you just can't survive?
I know you, and the things that you're going through
And I just want to carry your pain
Carry it all away.

Are you hurting, all broken up inside?
Disappointed or discouraged for all of your dreams have died
I love you, and I know what you're going through
I love you and I'll carry your pain
Carry it all away

Chorus:

I am the Healing Stream, come and bathe in me
I can wash you clean and set you free
For in my body there is the spirit and the blood
Believe in me, believe in me, believe in me
I am your God.

(Instrumental)

Let it go .. Let it go .. Let it go to me.
(repeat chorus)

Feet On The Rock

Sometimes I feel so broken, I don't always know the reason
I guess it's just the season for ploughing up inside.
Lord, you know that I start running
When I see the storm clouds coming
But experience has taught me that there's no place to hide

Put my feet on the Rock for everything else is sinking sand
Put my feet on the Rock, for heaven and earth will fade away
But the Rock will stand

Oh Lord help me go on, looking at you each step at a time
Knowing the storm will soon pass away
I want to be faithful to you
Oh Lord help me go on, looking at you one step at a time
Knowing the storm will soon pass away
I want to be faithful, when you come.

Sometimes I feel so shaken that my very roots are breaking up
Everyone seems to be leaning but I feel so alone
Lord you know my feet are falling
But my weary voice is calling you
Your arms are everlasting, will you carry me home

Put my feet on the Rock for everything else is sinking sand
Put my feet on the Rock, for heaven and earth will fade away
But the Rock will stand

I'm falling, falling down. Will you catch me in your arms
Before I hit the ground
I need to feel your love holding me inside
Put me on the Rock

Take my hand and will you put me on the Rock
Take my hand and will you put me on the Rock

I Feel Lonely

I feel lonely, deep down inside
You see my heart Lord I cannot hide it
I need someone, someone to share
Someone to hold me, someone to care

Lord I'm hurting, deep in my soul
Under the smiling, few people see it
But your eyes, they pierce to the pain
God of all comfort heal me again

Give me the love that I need for my brother
Healing the scars that we cause to each other
Break down the barriers that we build
To protect us from the wounds
So unspoken yet so real
Lord you see just how we feel
Oh Jesus will you heal

Lord we're hurting deep in our souls
Under the smiling few people know it
But your love can pierce to the pain
God of all comfort heal us again

Valleys

1. You've been walking in the valley of despair
Wondering if I care that you're living in confusion
But don't you know the breaking of your heart
Will open up the part that can shine with my reflection

B. And love will never let you down, always be around
To catch you when you fall
And light will never fail to come, bringing you the Son
And saying when you call

I am the way

2. And you've been walking in the valley of doubt
Trying to find out the things that you believe in
But don't you see that living in my word
Is not just things you've heard
But the things you're receiving
(Repeat B)

I am the truth

3. And you've been walking in the valley of tears
Facing all your fears ... you need a resurrection
But don't you know the lessons that you've learned
Will keep you always turned in the right direction
(Repeat B)

I am the way, the truth and the life.

Eagles Song

I see a storm is brewing in the summer sky
But I do not like the storm, it always makes me cry
But I know I can endure it, for you always see me through
Is there anything else a simple girl could do?

I know that I've been learning, yes I know I've changed
I've learned to look at sorrow and not turn from pain
And I've felt the fire touch me, but I've found that it will not burn
Is there anything else a simple girl could do?

But you say fly, fly like the eagle and catch the wind
There's sanctuary when things are going wrong.
If you will fly, fly like the eagle and catch the wind
'Cause up above the storm the sun is shining

(Chorus repeated twice)

Fly, fly away
Fly, fly away
Fly, fly away
You've got to learn to fly.

I Know Where You're Coming From

Maybe it looks like a pace or two
But to someone it could feel like a mile
Many a secret battle in life has been hidden behind a smile
People judge so easily the surface things they see
But the Spirit of God searches for truth and sees things differently

Maybe it looks like an hour's work
But it could have taken years and years
Many a simple task in life
Has been crippled by doubts and fears
People judge so easily the surface things they see
But the Spirit of God searches for truth and sees things differently

So I'll lead you when you need to be led
And I'll feed you when you need to be fed
And I'll heal you when you're broken inside
So you don't have to hide, 'cause I love you

I know where you're coming from, I know where you've been
I know the whole world loves a winner
But I still love you if you fail to win
Anyone can love a superstar who's learned to play the part
But I'd rather have a poor man who opens up his heart.

I'm sick of human cruelty and mindless empty talk
The world thinks it's grown to maturity
But it can hardly even walk.
Judging things so quickly by the surface things they see
But the Spirit of God loves mercy and sees things differently

So I'm here when you call out my name
And I'll be with you when you're feeling the pain
And I'll come to you when you're crying
'Cause I see that you're trying, and I love you!

I know where you're coming from, I know where you've been
I know the whole world loves a winner
But I still love you if you fail to win
Anyone can love a superstar who's learned to play the part
But I'd rather have a poor man who opens up his heart
Give me a poor man any day who opens up his heart.

Broken Heart

You say that love is all I need
But love's an ache that has made me bleed
And you say that arms can comfort pain
But I looked for arms and I looked in vain

I run from dreams of people dying
With no one there to take their place
And the world was cold when I was crying
So I hid my tears behind an empty face

An unknown seed conceived in passion
That lived and grew without a name
That long before the cord was broken
Knew the world was steeped in pain

Comforter, you're the Comforter
And I have pain inside my heart ... will you comfort me
(Repeat last two times)

The troubles of this world have torn my life apart
Man of sorrows, man of sorrows
Come and mend my broken heart
My broken heart,
My broken heart, etc.

Knowing That I Need You

Many times I've kicked against the thing that's held me down
I'd come to you and weep and pray but it always hung around
But as I see the way I am and face my deepest need
I'm really glad you left me there to plead

It was love left me hanging on, and taught me how to come
And only love left those chains on me so I'd never try to run
My heart is like a wayward child prone to go astray
And it's knowing that I need you keeps me by your side

I asked for healing but you gave me the Healer
I asked for freedom but you bound me with love
I asked for confidence but you gave me the Spirit's power
And it's knowing that I need you keeps me by your side

It was love left me hanging on, and taught me how to come
And only love left those chains on me so I'd never try to run
My heart is like a wayward child prone to go astray
And it's knowing that I need you keeps me by your side

Breaking Up

Breaking up is hard to bear
When you're tempted to think that I'm just not there
The storms of life wear you down
And facing your need is the hardest thing to do.

I heard a cry deep inside
The unhealed hurts of a wounded child
Wasted years and unshed tears
And facing your pain is the hardest thing to do.

But precious to me is the death of my Saints
Don't you know you're on Holy ground
(And) when the lake of pain has been fully drained
I'll lift you and feed you and bring you to life again
(Repeat last 4 times)

I love you
I'm near you
I'm here

Suddenly (Joy Springs Up)

I guess it's no surprise ... I see it in your eyes
You always knew you'd do it
And I want to learn to trust .. I know that I really must I wish I always could
But you're teaching me to come to you, to open up myself to you
When I tell you honestly, "I need you Lord", you come to me, come to me. Suddenly

Suddenly there's movement on a bare and empty stage
Suddenly there's writing on a blank and empty page
Suddenly the shadows are exploding into light
Doubt and fear disappear stampeding out of sight

Joy springs up when you least expect the light
For joy grows on in the darkness of the night
And you'll have laughter in your soul when joy grows again
Don't despair when you're conscious of the pain
Pain will fade but you'll find the joy has remained
And you'll have laughter in your soul when joy grows again

Suddenly there's movement in a dark and silent tomb
Suddenly a quickening in a barren empty womb
Suddenly the shadows are exploding into light
I believe and receive for here comes joy
(Instrumental)

Suddenly there's movement in a dark and silent tomb
Suddenly a quickening in a barren empty womb
Suddenly the shadows are exploding into light
I believe and receive for here comes, here comes
Joy springs up when you least expect the light
Joy springs up when you least expect the light ... (fade)
(Last line sung as a 4 part round!)

My vision for Healing Stream has always been that God will use the music and words to bring comfort, encouragement and healing. I am grateful for the positive feedback I have received from people over the years, particularly about this album. I pray that the Lord will continue to use it as a source of His love.

My thanks to all the people originally involved in this album. To Steve my husband for his commitment and help, to Faith for her friendship and prayer, and to my lovely Mum for her belief and support.
